PRIORITIES: What are your top three priorities and why?

My top three priorities are safety, community, and opportunity. Safety is important because we need to increase police presence in our communities. Community is important because we want to have fair housing for all. Opportunity is important because we want accessible job opportunities for all residents.

GROWTH: Charleston is experiencing overdevelopment that is pushing people into North Charleston. What is your plan to accommodate growth while keeping neighborhoods intact in North Charleston?

My plan to accommodate growth while keeping neighborhoods intact in North Charleston is to create affordable housing for those that work in positions that live and work in the city.

SAFETY: North Charleston has been ranked one of the nation's most violent cities in recent years. While the crime rate has come down, what will you do as a city council member to make the city safer for families?

While the crime rate has come down, the thing that I will do as a council member to make the city safer for families is to have more police on foot in neighborhoods making personal connections with residents and businesses to better understand their needs and concerns.

COMMUNITY: If you had an extra $100 million to spend over five years to make North Charleston a stronger community, what one thing would you invest in and why?

If I had an extra $100 million to spend over five years to make North Charleston a stronger community, the thing that I would invest in is local businesses to drive them to areas in need and give local residents the opportunity to expand their skill set and employment opportunities.
